Expense Example

This Example is intended to help you compare the cost of investing in the Fund with the cost of investing in other mutual funds. The Example assumes that you invest $10,000 in the Fund for the time periods indicated. The Example also assumes that your investment has a 5% return each year and that the Fund's operating expenses remain the same. The Example does not reflect brokerage commissions you may pay when buying or selling shares of the Fund. Although your actual costs may be higher or lower, under these assumptions, your costs would be:

	One Year	Three Years	Five Years	Ten Years
Institutional	$ 91	$284	$493	$1,096
Retirement	$ 83	$259	$450	$1,002
Administrative	$116	$362	$628	$1,386
Investor	$128	$400	$692	$1,523

Portfolio Turnover

The Fund pays transaction costs, such as commissions, when it buys and sells securities (or "turns over" its portfolio). A higher portfolio turnover may indicate higher transaction costs and may result in higher taxes when shares of the Fund are held in a taxable account. These costs, which are not reflected in the Annual Fund Operating Expenses or in the Expense Example, do affect the Fund's performance. The Fund's portfolio turnover rate in the most recent fiscal year was 67%.

Principal Investment Strategy

The Fund invests primarily in equity securities, principally common and preferred stocks of small cap companies. The Fund defines small cap companies as those with market capitalizations that fall within the range of the Russell 2000[®] Growth Index, provided that if the upper end of the capitalization range of that Index falls below $2.5 billion, the Fund will continue to define those companies with market capitalizations between the upper end of the range of the Index and $2.5 billion as small cap companies. As of December 31, 2017, the range of the Index was $4 million to $9.4 billion, but it is expected to change frequently.

The Subadviser's investment strategy focuses on identifying rapidly growing small cap companies that are in an early or transitional stage of their development and before their full potential is discovered by the market. The Subadviser utilizes bottom-up, fundamental research involving both quantitative and qualitative aspects to identify companies for investment. The Subadviser uses quantitative analysis to identify potential companies for growth characteristics, such as:

- Material revenue growth
- Sustainable and/or expanding margins
- Consistent earnings
- Strong free cash flow generation

The Subadviser assesses the attractiveness of the valuation of these growth companies by analyzing a variety of valuation metrics, such as enterprise values relative to earnings and free cash flows, and price-to-earnings ratios, among others. The Subadviser then uses detailed qualitative analysis to further identify companies that possess the following characteristics:

- Strong management teams
- Well-defined business plans
- Defensible market positions, such as higher barriers to entry
- Potential for growth in the market for the companies' products and/or services

Under normal market conditions, the Fund expects to invest in approximately 80 to 100 companies with at least 80% of its net assets, plus borrowings for investment purposes, in a diversified portfolio of equity securities of small cap companies.

The Subadviser may sell a holding if the price target for the company is reached, the investment thesis for the company has fundamentally changed, the Subadviser becomes less comfortable with the company's management team and/or the Subadviser identifies more attractive investment opportunities.

Principal Risks

There is no guarantee that the investment objective of the Fund will be achieved. Stocks fluctuate in price and the value of your investment in the Fund may go down. This means that you could lose money on your investment in the Fund or the Fund may not perform as well as other investment options. Principal risks impacting the Fund include:

Summary Prospectus

HARBOR SMALL CAP GROWTH OPPORTUNITIES FUND

Growth Style Risk: Over time, a growth oriented investing style may go in and out of favor, which may cause the Fund to underperform other equity funds that use different investing styles.

Market and Issuer Risk: Securities markets are volatile and can decline significantly in response to adverse market, economic, political, regulatory or other developments, which may lower the value of securities held by the Fund, sometimes rapidly or unpredictably. Additionally, an adverse event, such as an unfavorable earnings report, may depress the value of a particular issuer's stock.

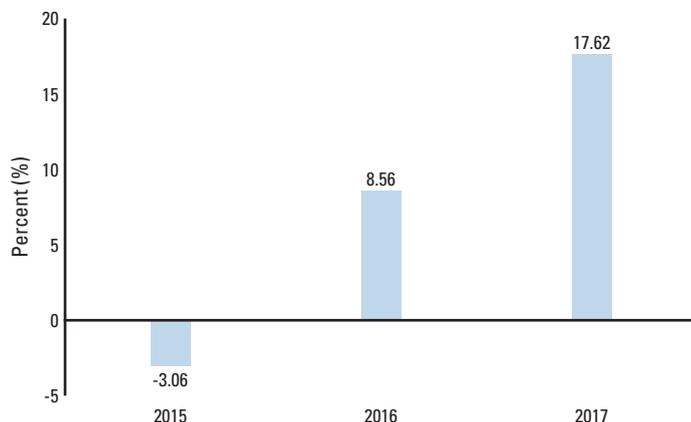

Selection Risk: The Subadviser's judgment about the attractiveness, value and growth potential of a particular security may be incorrect. The Subadviser potentially will be prevented from executing investment decisions at an advantageous time or price as a result of any domestic or global market disruptions, particularly disruptions causing heightened market volatility and reduced market liquidity, as well as increased or changing regulations. Thus, investments that the Subadviser believes represent an attractive opportunity or in which the Fund seeks to obtain exposure may be unavailable entirely or in the specific quantities or prices sought by the Subadviser and the Fund may need to obtain the exposure through less advantageous or indirect investments or forgo the investment at the time.

Small Cap Risk: The Fund's performance may be more volatile because it invests primarily in issuers that are smaller companies. Smaller companies may have limited product lines, markets and financial resources. Securities of smaller companies are usually less stable in price and less liquid than those of larger, more established companies. Additionally, small cap stocks may fall out of favor relative to mid or large cap stocks, which may cause the Fund to underperform other equity funds that focus on mid or large cap stocks.
